ALZHEIMER'S RESEARCH AND PREVENTION FOUNDATION: RESEARCH GRANT POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Research grant policy regarding Facilities and Administrative (F&A) Costs.

The Alzheimer's Research and Prevention Foundation (ARPF) allows research award funds to be used to cover only direct project-related costs, including but not limited to: compensation of research personnel, recruitment expenses, participant training and payments, and costs to cover supplies; travel and registration fees, publication, and other project-related products and activities. The ARPF highly discourages use of research grant funds for Facilities and Administrative (F&A) costs (also referred to as indirect costs or institutional overhead). I.e., research grant funds awarded by the ARPF cannot be used for F&A Costs.
